DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-9, drawn to polypeptide consisting of the sequence of G protein of human respiratory syncytial virus, classified in class 424, subclass 211.1. (Please note if this group is selected further select one sequence to be examined on the merits, and amend the claims accordingly, see below for explanation)
- II. Claims 10-12 drawn to immunogenic agent, classified in class 536, subclass 23.72. (Please note if this group is selected further select one sequence to be examined on the merits, and amend the claims accordingly, see below for explanation)
- III. Claims 13-19, drawn to fusion protein of agent and external membrane of the bacterium of genus Klebiella, classified in class 424, subclass 192.1. (Please note if this group is selected further select one sequence to be examined on the merits, and amend the claims accordingly, see below for explanation)
- IV. Claims 20-22, drawn to vaccine composition, classified in class 424, subclass 204.1. (Please note if this group is selected further select one sequence to be examined on the merits, and amend the claims accordingly, see below for explanation)

Art Unit: 1648

- V. Claims 23-24, drawn to nucleotide sequence, classified in class 435, subclass 91.1. (Please note if this group is selected further select one sequence to be examined on the merits, and amend the claims accordingly, see below for explanation)
- VI. Claims 25-26, drawn to process of preparation of a conjugated protein, classified in class 435, subclass 5.
- VII. Claim 27, drawn to use of protein of Sequence ID No. 13, classified in class 514, subclass 44.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions of Groups I-VII are mutually exclusive and patentably distinct products and methods each are structurally and functionally different products and methods which are substantially different. The products are made by different methods, and multiple methods have different uses. The examination of all groups would require different searches in the U.S. Patent Shoes, in house and commercial databases, and scientific literature and would require the consideration of different patentability issues.

Upon election of any one of Groups I to V Applicants are additionally required to elect a single sequence as indicated above as they apply to group(s). This requirement is not to be construed as a requirement for an election of species, since each sequence constitutes an independent and patentably distinct invention; the sequences have different structure and are distinct.

Art Unit: 1648

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
